LABOR "BILL OF RIGHTS" DRAWN

Program Presented at Washington Federation Meeting

WAR ON ANTI-UNIONISTS

Conference Considered Of Epochal Importance

WASHINGTON. — (By Associated Press) — Representatives of the 109 national and international unions affiliated in the American Federation of Labor gathered here today in an extraordinary conference for the purpose of organizing to meet attacks on the union labor movement.

The conference, called by President Gompers, is considered one of special importance and is one of the few of its kind ever held in the history of the federation.

PROGRAM OFFERED

The first business was the representation by the executive council of a "bill of rights" and recommendations for a labor program. The council framed its report after being in continuous session nearly all day yesterday.

While the council's program was not made public, it was understood to provide for a campaign by organized labor to combat anti-unionists, wage reductions, compulsory arbitration, labor injunctions and "open shop" propaganda.

PEACEFUL CAMPAIGN

One of the proposals before the conference, it was said, calls for a peaceful campaign by the federation to offset the propaganda of the agents of union labor.

Federal and state legislation to further the cause of organized labor is to be considered by the conference which proposed to sift out the whole question of the "open shop" versus trade unionism.

The conference, "union leaders said, is expected to determine the attitude the federation shall take in relation with the incoming Republican administration. Survey of industrial conditions throughout the country was being taken by labor leaders here for today's meeting and it is agreed that the present depression was the worst the federation has faced in years.

THREE JAILED IN TOLEDO ROBBERY

Jury Convened to Investigate Case

TOLEDO. — (By Associated Press) — The federal grand jury was called into session today to consider the case of Frank Urbanski, his brother Joe and Joe Culbert, a printer, in connection with the postoffice robbery here a week ago this morning, when the armed bandits held up the clerks and escaped with value of $1,600,000.

Postoffice inspectors intimated yesterday that the amount of the robbery may reach $1,600,000 but said the most of it consisted of registered liberty bonds, which will be hard to dispose of.

The three men, two of whom were arrested at Elkhart, Ind., while en route from the city on a Lake Erie train, are held in jail at $25,000 each. None was able to procure funds for his release.

Police and postoffice inspectors are searching for Wanda Urbański, a sister of Joe and Frank, who fled the officers at Elkhart either locking herself in a compartment leaving the train before it arrived in Toledo. The girl is believed to have gone to Chicago. Police there have furnished a description and her arrest is expected.

When she left Toledo she is said to have carried a black bag in which she is believed to have been a portion of the postoffice loot.

The police took up investigation of a report that she is a telephone operator and may have been conversant with the work with the system of mailing the mails and at what time important shipments arrived at the post office.

On December 1, 1917, when the Urbański brothers were arrested in connection with the robbery of a brewer in Dublin, the sister was employed by the company as a telephone operator, according to police

THRONGS ATTEND AUTO SHOW

Rooms Packed Day and Evening By Spectators

SIDELIGHTS ON EXHIBIT

Visitors Amazed By Completeness of Show

Visitors attending the Auto Show Tuesday complimented representatives of the Lima Auto Club and Lima auto dealers in general for the splendid manner in which the show started off in the afternoon.

Shortly before noon, practically every display was in place. Credit for this state of affairs, due to the combined efforts of everyone connected with the show.

It seemed to the visitor that every dealer was trying to out do all others in the matter of elaborate display. Comfort and convenience is the thing uppermost in the minds of exhibitors. Chairs, writing stands, runs, hat racks and tables are provided about every display. Parlor lamps, beautiful colored ribbons, flowers and attractive souvenirs are seen in profusion on the third floor.

Music is to be heard aplenty. The Rag Pickers orchestra, Miss Atheneau Hall, violinist, and "That Quartette" are pleasing the throngs.

MUFFLING BACKFIRE

Bill Fridley says that "with a Plummer on the show committee there was no excuse for burning out the boiler grates."

The committee apologizes to the public for the seeming absence of several dealers Tuesday, but place the blame on the Elks. Those antler doings sure drew the boys away early.

Joe Hartline had his day Monday. The show committee has delegated him to the Turners room for the balance of the week. Woe be unto Josephus, if that steam gets below 10 pounds.

Lonny Merritt was proudly showing his two babies to interested visitors all day Tuesday. The Marmon family may well be proud of these weighty ones.

Young Bill Fridley was satisfied with the worst location in the show. Bill says that he can sell more cars out on the back lot than these other fellows could sell on the public square.

Carl Bontall says Autumn Hall can sure play a "flock of violin."

The orchestra boys looked pretty good in those white pants after the cigarettes were ordered dispensed with.

Dad Gramm says it's pretty tough when a fellow can't offer to make a little bet, without someone taking him up.

Unlike most auto shows, it was all set when the curtain was raised. A place for everything and everything in its place. Good management.

A woman passed by the building and remarked that it seemed like the showman was an awfully small place to hold a show. Said woman had better look over the other two floors.

Miss Case, with the Auburn hair, did well to Dodge Brothers by the name of Jordan. She tried to Ford the Hudson after a trip Overland in order to Grant detective Holmes an interview relative to the Fudge about the Peerless Packard.

SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANS PLEASE COUNTY HEALTHER

County Health Commissioner, Dr. J. A. Sutter, said Wednesday he is glad to hear that council was proceeding with plans to build a sewage disposal plant. "The city has been dumping its garbage much too far just outside the city's limits," Dr. Sutter said.

He explained that some garbage with the disposition they make of the garbage, once they get outside the city limits.

FAIRMOUTH BRITISH NEWSPAPERMAN NOW TOURING U. S.

WOULD EXCHANGE LIBERTY BONDS

Passing of Allied Debt to U. S. Holders Suggested

TRANSFERS THE INTEREST

Burden to Shift From America To Foreign Lands

WASHINGTON. — (By United Press) — Passing on of the allied debt of $14,000,000,000 to holders of liberty bonds has been suggested to Republican members of congress as a means of collecting the money owed this government by foreign nations. The plan would involve exchange of liberty bonds for bonds of the allies.

The suggestion came from abroad and it was understood that Lord Chalmers of England who was to have come here to discuss the British debt had something of this kind in mind.

At present however, members of the senate finance committee oppose it.

PLAN OUTLINED

The plan briefly is that the allied governments be asked to agree to issue bonds preferred above all their other obligations for a term of 30 to 50 years and bearing 5 per cent interest, and that these bonds be turned over to the United States government under an agreement, providing for payment of interest and sinking fund.

The United States in turn would issue the foreign bonds to holders of American liberty bonds and retire the liberty bonds thus converted.

If the entire allied debt were treated in this way, upwards of $10,000,000,000 Liberty Bonds could be retired. It is claimed that American government could save the large sum required as interest and sinking fund on that $10,000,000,000.

GUARANTEE REQUIRED

Members of the finance committee have not given the idea much consideration, however. It would be necessary for this government to guarantee to the American people the foreign bonds they claim and pay the interest if England, France, or Italy should default. The five-percent interest rate planned as an inducement to holders of 3 1/2, 4 and 4 1/2 per cent bonds would merely be an additional burden on the treasury if the foreign governments should fail to meet interest payments, it was pointed out.

SUIT IS SETTLED

Jos. Tapscott Estate Paid Is $1,000 by B. & O. R. R.

Settlement for the alleged wrongful injury of Joseph Tapscott, Perry-ton farmer on December 23, 1913, has been made by his son, Mulford Tapscott, executor of his estate with the Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Co. The estate received $1,000.

Tapscott had filed suit against the railroad company for $1,355.90. He alleged the Dodge sedan in which his father was driving, was destroyed beyond repair when struck by a train. Tapscott spent $855.90 for hospital treatment and physicians' service. It was claimed, and the estate asked to be reimbursed for this amount.

The petition charged that injuries suffered by Joseph Tapscott at that time were instrumental in the cause of his death on May 7, following. The railroad company offered to settle for $1,000, which offer was accepted. Judge J. H. Hamilton, in probate court Wednesday, approved the settlement and declared that Tapscott had divided the proceeds according to law.

The suit in common pleins court will later be dismissed.

to soon become a make-believe, a toy ship. Instead of again resuming her forays to Alaskan waters, the old cutter Bear is now pulling and straining at her anchor of Sausalito in protest to the day when she will be removed to San Diego, where she will degenerate into a mere training ship for cadets in Uncle Sam's seat fighting forces. In former days the Bear was used in Alaskan waters to joust with smugglers, to protect seal fisheries, to rescue shipwrecked mariners and in many other ways was a real red-blooded resident of the sea.

The bear has been in service for 35 years and its log carries thousands of thrilling stories of life in the Northland and the Great White Way from Point Barrow to points south, west and east. The bear was first drafted into use with the one-time United States Revenue Cutter Service in 1885. For 25 consecutive summers the Bear made trips from Seattle, where it was stationed, into the Bering Sea, braving all kinds of ice floes and gales.

It was the Bear with her sister ship, the Thetis, which rescued the seven Greely expedition survivors June 22, 1884. The Bear saw the June 22, 1884. The Bear saw the rule and in the cutter service did much to exterminate piracy and robbery on the high seas.

The Bear did not always carry the American flag. She was launched at Greenwich, Scotland, in 1874 and flew the British flag until 1883 when purchased by the United States government.

METCALF-ST OVERHEAD BRIDGE COMMITTEE IS APPROVED BY C. O. C.

CLEVELAND. — (By Associated Press) — Judge William H. McLean, in a statement issued today, announced he will resign as chief justice of the municipal court or about March 15. The statement was in reply to a resolution adopted by the Cleveland Bar Association last Monday asking him to resign. Judge McCannan recently was quitted of a second degree murder charge in connection with the death of Harold C. Kagy.

In his statement, issued after extended conference between Judge, his brother, Dr. A. A. C. Gannon, and Attorney W. H. B. who defended him in his trial in the Kagy case, Judge McCannan declared it had been his intention to retire from the bench for a time.

In announcing his resignation, Judge pointed out that his record nine years service in local court had been entirely free from all adverse criticism. He felt, however, that the administration of justice would be hampered if a cloud of suspicion was allowed to remain over any member of the judicial branch.

Vienna's Rich Revel While Thousands Are Hungry

HOGS BATHED IN LIQUORS

Vulgar Extravagance Amid Poverty Shocks Visitors

VIENNA — (By Associated Press)

Vulgar display of extravagance in food and clothing is a nightly picture at the gay restaurants here while one is a few blocks away hungry and miserly-clad persons are being poorly fed in community kitchens.

Visitors to Vienna are shocked by the paradoxical economic condition.

Others are either hardened to the contradictory sights or, in their inability to alter either extreme, can only shut their eyes to them.

Crowded theatres and operas at ridiculously advanced prices, concerts sold out in advance, masked ball following masked ball in an endless night, cabarets whose risque dancers would bring out the police in New York and where nothing to drink but wine is served, cafes and restaurants with never an empty table not a room to be had in the big hotels whose prices go up from week to week—that is one picture. On its reverse, foreign relief straining its pocket and demanding unnecessary contributions in aid of a suffering populace DECORATED

In Austria it is the custom on New Year's Eve to bring squeaking sucklings to public dining rooms and tie red ribbon with which they are decorated in bits to use as talismans for the coming year. The newspapers report that in this fashionable resort a woman gave a pig and bathed it in a cooler full of wine. Other women caught the original idea and imitated it at the cost of many bottles. The result, incidentally, has had its licence suspended for constant violation of the food and closing regulations.

Viennese claim that in all these matters where display and expenditure of the most vulgar kind are evidenced not one real Austrian can be found, that they have not the money.

They say they are supported by the bands of profiteers of every race and every nationality that infest the city.

A recent demonstration of the popularity is acknowledged to have been inspired by this prodigal display of extravagance and ready money on the part of this small element of the population.

GREAT HARM TO CITY

The workingmen demand the government shall suppress profiteering and eliminate the sheba (profiteer-or wholesaler or middleman) and the schlechdiner (illicit trader) in an effort to lower the daily mounting cost of living, else they will undertake to do so on their own account.

They carried a miniature gallows in a recent demonstration.

The authorities and thoughtful businessmen acknowledge that their stupendous froth of extravagance and display is doing great harm to the city and the country. Casual travelers who spend a few days in the interior visit these gorgeous resorts and see the high class restaurants crowded at every meal tea dances in the afternoon, exceptionally well furnished men and women and the display of furs and jewels and articles of luxury in the shop windows probably unequalled in any capital. They are led to believe that beneath this surface lies despised privation and in certain strata actual bitter suffering.

Some 400,000 children are being fed one nourishing meal a day by American charity. Thus American med with long absent necessities.

Over 200,000 Austrian children are their guests in other countries.

SENTIMENT MIXED ON BUSINESS

Period of Hand to Mouth Existence is Indicated

RETAIL AND LABOR COST UP

Inability of Europe to Buy is Important Factor

NEW YORK—Business sentiment is somewhat mixed, and while in some lines there is improvement, all signs indicate a period of hand to mouth business, based upon immediate requirements for prompt delivery. Whatever opinion may have been entertained a month or two months ago, it is now clear that the process of placing business upon a level fairly comparable with that which prevailed prior to 1918 is in progress. The process will be hastened by the readjustment of those basic commodities which have as yet remained almost untouched by the movement toward lower prices. Particularly is this the case with regard to iron and steel, the necessary materials for practically every industry.

TWO FACTORS BEHIND

Retail prices and labor costs have not kept pace with falling commodity prices. Labor costs must be readjusted to new price levels in an orderly fashion with the greatest possible recognition of the social problems involved. Viewing the matter as a whole, further lowering of retail prices must come before the business situation can be said to be once more in stable equilibrium. Retail prices, as is usual in a falling market, have lagged behind the downward movement of wholesale prices and their adjustment has been delayed by the introduction during the past few years of a temporary speculative element into the circle of distribution. These speculative middlemen, who for the most part serve no economic purpose, have largely been eliminated by rapidly falling commodity prices, but the effect of their presence is still felt to some extent in the unduly high cost of much of the present retailers' stocks, as well as in a general lowering of the standards of commercial morality and a disregard of trade conditions.

FAST DECLINES PASSED

It is difficult to conduct business at a profit in a period of sharply declining prices. Freedoms' declines in commodity markets are believed to be passed, except in the case of iron and steel and a few other commodities where the full forces of readjustment have not yet been felt. Even with a continued declining tendency, normal business at a satisfactory profit is entirely possible. The enormous expansion in the United States during the thirty years following the Civil War was carried on in just such an era of gradually declining prices.

IT'S TIME TO COME ABSOLUTELY TO A REALIZATION that the period of semi-speculative business in staple lines has passed. Not only must the machinery of trade be readjusted to new normal price levels, but there must be a return to the mental attitude of the time when strict integrity and a broad and thorough knowledge on trade conditions were recognized as among the necessary assets of the well-established business.

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION

The inability of Europe to buy will continue to be a major factor for an indefinite period. This is directly reflected in the raw material markets of every country which is dependent on the European market to any important degree and indirectly in the export markets for manufactured products of every class. It is important in connection with the European situation that the effect of the establishment of an export business on a long-time credit basis should not be misunderstood. In the face of the present shortage of capital the sale of raw materials on any other terms than cash or an exchange of commodities does not alter the immediate situation. The sole result is the substitution of one kind of obligation for another. In other words, it will require years to make up not only the actual capital destruction which resulted from the war, but also the loss in capital accumulation and the disorganization of productive activity which resulted from it. American business should frankly recognize this condition. A reasonable export business can be done with due regard to established credit standards, and business on any other basis is undesirable. There is neither formula nor legendem by which poor credits become good, nor means whereby large business can be done with those whose credit does not permit or warrant such transactions.

MONETARY RATES

Government demands as well as prospective corporate and individual borrowings together with the considerable proportion of credit still unliquidated will prevent any permanent easing of rates for the present. Somewhat easier conditions should prevail until the end of February when demands for funds to make income tax payments due March 15 are likely to result in another stiffening of money rates.

WHOLESALE PRICES

Further substantial declines in commodity prices have occurred during the period January 16 to February 15, including both raw materials and semi-finished products. In the cotton and grain markets, prices which appeared to have reached a position of at least temporary stabilization just after the first of the year, have suffered new declines. Steel and petroleum prices which hitherto resisted the downward movement in other markets, began during the period under review to follow the course of other commodities. The slight improvement noticeable after the first of the year in the movement of wool and hides has not been sustained and in many grades of these commodities it can scarcely be said that a market exists at any price.

RAILROADS

December earnings for the most part continue disappointing, as a reflection of the traffic slump which resulted in a surplus of 323,716 freight cars for the week ending January 29, the latest period for

AIRMAN DIES BUT MAIL GOES ON

Death Fails To Stop Trans-Continental Flight

COMRADE CONTINUES TRIP

Packages Taken From Wrecked Plane, Kept Going

OMAHA, Neb.—(By Associated Press)—The government air mail service's first attempt at a continuous trans-continental day and night mail flight remained unbroken this morning so far as the west-to-east flight is concerned, when Pilot Jack Knight, manning ship number 188, hopped off for Chicago at 1:59, a few minutes after he had landed from North Platte and without taking any rest.

The mail he carried was that taken from the plane of Captain W. F. Lewis, killed at Elko, Nevada, yesterday morning as he took off for the first lap of the flight. Knight has never been over the route from Omaha to Chicago.

An air map was torn from the wall of the local field office and he declared he would make the way by its use.

"Wire my wife at Cheyenne that I am going to see this thing thru," was his cheery farewell as he climbed into the big de Havilland. His nose was in adhesive tape as the result of an injury received last week when his plane struck a mountain. Pilot Harry G. Smith, piloting the first plane, which reached here at 11:30 last night, had not started early this morning.

which data are available. This is the largest number of idle cars reported by the railroads of the United States in ten years. The passage of legislation empowering the Treasury to make partial payment to the companies of the terms of the government guarantees would materially aid many of the roads and substantially benefit the general credit situation by enabling the roads to settle outstanding accounts and make new commitments for materials. The final status of the railroads, however, depends upon the adjustment of railway wages to a scale commensurate with decreases in effect in other industries.

International Ship-building Corporation, presented Fred Morris, authorized representative of the shipping board, with an immense "key" to the yard. The key itself was a mammoth affair, symbolic of the work done by the shipyard. Employees of the yard, government officials and leading figures in the ship-building world attended the ceremonies.

The land acquired for the great shipyard was mainly idle land on the edge of the river and filling in of sections of the lower part of the land was the first engineering problem met. The yard was not in full operation in time to give the country the maximum benefit before the war ended.

J. F. Cover to Contest Heart Balm Claim of Miss Hills

ASKS SECURITY FOR COSTS

Echo of Breach Promise Case Against Lima Man

First indication that John Franklyn Cover, Jr., Lima business man, is to contest the $25,000 damage suit for alleged breach of promise which Miss Ethelreda Hills, Cambridge, Mass., filed against him January 20, fast came with the filing of two motions in Allen-co court of common pleas.

First motion filed by Cover's legal counsel asks that the following words be stricken from Miss Hills' petition: "And during all of said time in the most emphatic terms possible and in the most affectionate manner, defendant (Cover) expressed and indicated to the plaintiff (Miss Hills) that he loved her most tenderly and plaintiff then believing and having full confidence in the defendant, responded and reciprocated with love and affection for him most generously and abundantly."

ASKS ADDITIONAL COSTS

A second motion asks that she be forced to provide additional costs in the case. Cover's counsel avers the costs are wholly inadequate and insufficient in the case, which she has fully fled.

In her petition Miss Hills charged that Cover courted her from December, 1916, until October, 1918, when after telling her he would marry her in a year abruptly broke off all promises. Miss Hills charged she has suffered most intensely as a result of his failure to marry her.

The Management of the New Cambridge Hotel Purchased All Their Pillow Slips, Bed Sheets

at Lima's Busy Store

Where the Prices Are Right, and the Quality of Goods Unexcelled

We Wish Mr. Engleight Success

Lima has but two representatives of the old Colonial style hotel. These two include the famous Lima House on the Public Square and the New Cambridge at 418 N Central-st, opposite the B. and O. and Pennsylvania railroad stations.

The Cambridge, operated under the European plan has been under many different managements and has consequently borne many names. The Turf, and the Cambridge, were some of the names this old hostelry has worn under.

Recently it went under the management of H. Ingleright, well known to the Lima public and the originator of the cafeteria at the Waldo hotel. As a caterer, Ingleright has won a reputation not exceeded in Allen county. He will manage the hotel as well as look after personally, the needs of the restaurants and the dining rooms and kitchen which are operated in connection with the hotel.

Every one of the fifty rooms is on the outside and are 14 feet high—the highest rooms to be found in the city. This feature allows a room to be cool in the summer and comfortable in the winter time doing away with stuffiness to be found in low ceiling rooms, artificially heated. Every room has entirely new furniture. They are equipped with standard furniture—the Ernest-Martin beds—famous for their comfort and oak dressed bureaus. Public baths are conveniently arranged. Hot and cold water, steam heated and ice water drinking fountains, are some of the attractive features to be found here.

The hotel has a large lobby, good lights and a private dining room in connection with the restaurant.

The restaurant is prepared to serve special dinners on two hours notice, and will serve family dinners on every Sunday. Short orders will be promptly taken care of. The restaurant has a large refrigerator where the choicest and best cuts of meats are always kept for their patrons.

Mr. Ingleright is married, and has one son M. Ingleright, who is at present located in Fort Worth, Texas.

As manager of this new place, he will be glad to see all of his old friends, and will see to it that their wants are given the best of attention.

HARDING'S CABINET

UNLESS there are last minute changes due to death, declination or otherwise, the personnel of the cabinet that will surround Warren G. Harding as President of the United States is now complete. With their chief, they will come into power on March 4th.

If there were aspirations on the part of Senator Johnson of California or Senator Borah of Idaho for cabinet portfolios, they have been shattered. Senator Lodge, too, is missing from the list, but it is stated that he refused the tender of a place.

Charles Evans Hughes of New York, aspirant for the Presidency against Woodrow Wilson four years ago, is to be secretary of state; Andrew Mellon of Pennsylvania, secretary of the treasury; John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, secretary of war; Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio, attorney general; Will H. Hays of Indiana, postmaster general; Edwin Denby of Michigan, secretary of the navy; A. B. Fall of New Mexico, secretary of the interior; Henry Wallace of Iowa, secretary of agriculture; Herbert Hoover of California, secretary of commerce; J. J. Davis, Pennsylvania, secretary of labor.

Truly an imposing list of prominent men. It is noted that the south failed of recognition and that Pennsylvania drew two berths. Friends of Hoover will rejoice that he is placed in a position of commanding responsibility along lines wherein he won distinction for himself during the war. With Will Hays, the national chairman in the last election and Harry Daugherty, Harding's personal campaign manager, in the list of holders of cabinet positions, the old line G. O. P. politicians will have little cause for complaint. Senator Fall is probably expected to furnish the pyrotechnics when they are necessary at cabinet meetings.

COUNTY ROLL OF HONOR

MRS. Irene Mills Jackson, in charge of the home service section of the Lima branch of the American Red Cross, has set herself to the commendable task of marshaling information of the necessary character to make up a complete roll of honor of the Allen-co boys who were killed in action in the world war, those who died later in the hospitals over there as a result of wounds received, those who succumbed to disease in camps over there or in this country, or who died from disease contracted during their term of service.

It would seem that to secure such a list, complete in every detail, would be a very easy matter, but Mrs. Jackson is not finding it so. In fact, altho request was made prominently in the newspapers several days ago for assistance from those in possession of facts desired, there has been very little response.

Is it possible that we have so soon forgotten the sacrifices the young men in Uncle Sam's great army made for their country and their fellowmen? Can it be that indifference has stepped in where only a short time ago patriotic fervor was at such a point that it would seem we never could forget?

Such a list should be maintained as a part of the record of the Allen-co Historical society at least, if in no other manner. It would be to our lasting shame should it have to be said that such an honor roll could not be compiled, due to lack of cooperation in failure of those interested to report such facts as are sought.

UNCLE SAM AND ALASKA

FOR the most part, American citizens have little or no knowledge of the real conditions in Alaska, the northernmost part of the North American continent, purchased years ago from the government of Russia for a paltry ten or fifteen million dollars.

Civic clubs had as a speaker recently in Lima a man who spent some time in Alaska and who brought to them a wonderful message of that wonderful territory which Uncle Sam purchased so cheaply, as has since been evidenced, but which created a storm of protest all over the land before those who registered a protest knew the facts in the case.

For the most part, those citizens of the United States who have visited Uncle Sam's domain in the "frozen north," have really only viewed the coastline from the deck of a vessel or visited some of the coast towns. It is back in the interior where the real worth and desirability of Alaska lies, authorities state.

The natural resources of Alaska are such that its purchase from Russia for the price paid was something akin to taking candy away from a child. The czar needed money, Uncle Sam wanted Alaska and a deal was quickly consummated. As we learn more about the northern possession, the wisdom of those who braved censure and a storm of objection from an uninformed public in consummating the purchase becomes more and more apparent and where there was once vilification and anger and vehemently expressed disapproval, there is now exactly the opposite.

POOR OLD JOHN

A FEW more spikes have been driven into the casket that contains all that is mortal of poor old John Barleycorn. J. A. Shearer, federal prohibition director for Ohio, has promulgated added restrictions that are designed to stop a number of loopholes thru which evasions of the prohibition laws have been squeezed.

Possession of intoxicants without permit is made unlawful unless the liquor is in the dwelling of the owner or in storage and then only when it was acquired by the owner prior to January 17, 1920. Liquor now held in bond may not be withdrawn for beverage purposes, nor may liquors withdrawn, purchased or procured under any permit covering the disposition or use of it for non-beverage purposes, be diverted to beverage purposes.

This is sufficient to bring gloom to the bibulously inclined, but it is further ordered by the prohibition commissioner that a person possessing liquor for beverage purposes in any place of storage outside his dwelling must make a report thereof, showing the kinds and quantity of each kind possessed, within 30 days, to the federal prohibition director of the state in which the liquor is held. It is also ruled that liquor may not be removed or transported in violation of any state or federal law making such transportation or removal illegal, unless a permit to do so is procured.

Liquor may be inherited from a deceased owner without a permit, but a report of it must be made within 30 days after the beneficiary of the will of the deceased takes possession of the liquor.

These do be sad days for the friends of John Barleycorn, deceased.

JUST FOLKS—BY EDGAR A. GUEST

"WHERE'S MAMMA?"

Comes in flying from the street,
"Where's mamma?"
Friend or stranger thus he'll greet,
"Where's mamma?"
Doesn't want to say hello,
Home from school or play he'll go Straight to what he wants to know.
"Where's mamma?"

Many times a day he'll shout,
"Where's mamma?"
Seems afraid that she's gone out,
"Where's mamma?"
Is his first thought at the door—
She's the one he's looking for.
And he questions o'er and o'er,
"Where's mamma?"

TODAY'S HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

NOT UNCLEAN BUT UNCARED FOR

One of the few tangible results of the unwisely directed public educational campaign against the alleged "great white plague," which is truly no plague at all, is an unreasoning, cruel, indefensible fear of the consumptive on the part of the public, and growing out of that fear, a ruthless isolation which amount to persecution of the victim of tuberculosis who happens to lack wealth.

It is an axiom of the medical world that the safest place one can live, as regards freedom from the risk of contracting tuberculosis, is in a tuberculosis sanatorium or hospital. There ordinary cleanliness and care are the only precautions taken to keep the rate of tuberculosis mortality to sickness lower among physicians, nurses, and other attendants in tuberculosis sanatoriums and hospitals than it is among the people at large.

That being true, it follows that there is no danger involved in ordinary association with a well cared for or intelligent, cleanly tuberculous individual.

What shall we say then, of people who raise a hue and cry against the establishment of such a sanatorium or hospital in their neighborhood? And of real estate investors who object to the building of such institutions near property in which they have an interest? The history of such developments has always been the same: the value of real estate in the vicinity of the sanatorium or hospital takes a jump and remains higher than ever before; the general health of the people of the vicinity invariably improves, for they, too, learn something of the laws of hygiene thru mere proximity to the tuberculous sanatorium. It is a regrettable fact that here

ABE MARTIN

He is a "gentleman bandit."

He walks with a polished cane. His language is scholarly and it is never low-browed nor plain.

He has the Park avenue swagger.

His suit is well-tailored and neat.

He wears enough jewels to stagger a person he meets on the street.

But he looks on the nut like a rowdy.

And he knocks out his victims with ease.

He enters a store and says "Howdy."

Then batters the clerk to his knees.

He cleans out the safe in a jiffy.

And dumps the swag into a van.

But the papers all say he is spiffy—A regular "gentleman."

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

Only the morning hours of this day are lucky.

Government investigations will result in sensational revelations, and cause much discussion.

During the year there will be made scientific experiments which will greatly benefit mankind.

Unexpected good fortune will greatly improve shipping conditions.

Prosperity for commerce is indicated.

Persons whose birthday this is, should be careful in business affairs and should resist temptation to indulge in flirtations, which for them cannot result in good.

Children born today will be unruly and hard to control, but will be successful if they are well trained.

DRIVE AWAY HEADACHE

Rub Musterole on Forehead and Temples

A headache remedy without the dangers of "headache medicine." Relieves headache and that miserable feeling from colds or congestion. And it acts at once! Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Used only externally, and in no way can it affect stomach and heart, as some internal medicines do.

Excellent for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, all pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosty feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

YOUR NAME

BRITT

By PHILIP FRANCIS NOWLAN, VARIATIONS—Britt, Bret, Breton, RACIAL ORIGIN—English, SOURCE—A nationality.

While those family names are English origin, the nationality is represented is not.

The Romans, it is true, knew England as Britannia, or Britannia, later the name was revived in the form of Great Britain. But Britain to the population of northern Europe in the Middle Ages, meant only Brittany, or Bretagne, the northwestern peninsula section of France, people by a Cymric Celtic race closely akin to the Welsh, who in earlier days were the inhabitants of all Britain whom the Romans knew as Britons.

It was about the twelfth and the tenth centuries that family names had their period of most rapid formation and vigorous growth. This was subsequent to the Norman invasion and the establishment of close contact between England and the adjacent parts of northern France. It was natural that many Bretons came to England. Many of them came with the Normans, for medieval Normandy and Breton were adjacent provinces.

No more natural method of referring to the man of alien birth, to distinguish from others bearing the same given name, could have arise than that of indicating his nationality. Thus the medieval English records are full of such names as "Hamo le Bret," "Ivo le Brit," etc. Not in all cases, but in many, these sobriquets became family names.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive T. lets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positive to the work.

People affected with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that what calomel does without any after effect.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without giving pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after sev'ren years of practical work with patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their yellow color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

DAVID WARFIELD COMES TO FAUROT TO NIGHT

Named Actor to Appear in "Return of Peter Grimm" At Local Theatre

High Class Film Shows Attract Large Audiences To All Houses

(By ESTHER WAGNER.) David Warfield and his supporting company under the direction of David Belasco, will appear tonight at the Faurot in "The Return of Peter Grimm." The restoration to the stage of this unusual and very beautiful drama, written by Mr. Belasco, is really in response to a genuine public demand for its presentation. Its theme, the continuation of individual existence after the conclusion of this life, is more widely discussed at the present time than ever before, and Mr. Belasco's explanation of the idea is now appreciated in even greater degree than when the play was first produced.

Mr. Warfield's portrayal of Peter Grimm is said to stand forth, among his several notable creations, as his intellectual and spiritual as well as technical masterpiece. The supporting company includes several players who appeared in the first production, among them being Marie Bates, Joseph Brennan, John Sainpolis, John F. Webber and William Seag, and also such well known players as Miriam Doyle, George Wellington, Bertha Fleisch, Edwin Dupont and David Malcolm.

SEND SUNDAY SOCIAL NEWS IN EARLY

Persons who have social news for the Sunday edition of The Lima News will confer a favor if they send it or telephone Miss Christen, the society editor, Friday. It is becoming mechanical impossibility to handle all of the great bulk of various kinds of news which comes in and is gathered on Saturday for the Sunday edition.

Mrs. T. C. Pennell was hostess to the members of the Domestic Science club at her home Tuesday afternoon. Members responded to roll call with twenty minute breakfast recipes. Mrs. Paul DeWeese read an excellent paper on "South American Coffee." Mrs. A. E. Eagle had the paper of the day which was a very unusual and interesting one telling "Why Prices Are High Today." Later a delicious two course luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Hazel Pennell Pittie, Toledo, and Miss Stella Pennell. The only guest was Miss Virginia Byrd.

Hereaux Temps club will meet with Mrs. Warren Rudy, W. High-st Thursday.

In compliment to Congressman-elect and Mrs. John L. Cable, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Holmes will entertain Friday evening.

Miss Rosa Paskert, Toledo, is the guest of Mrs. F. P. Trusdall, and daughter, Mrs. Cora Schoenlein, S. Woodlawn-ave.

Mrs. Theodore Scheid was the guest of her son and daughter, students at the Bluffton college Tuesday.

Mrs. Leah M. Butler was the guest of the Century club, Bluffton, Tuesday. Mrs. Butler gave an interesting talk on "The Club Women in Civic League."

Mrs. W. J. Kraus will entertain members of the Ideal club Friday instead of Thursday because of the Women's Music club matinee recital at the Memorial hall Thursday.

Mrs. Charles Warren returned to her home in New York City Wednesday after visiting with her sister, Mrs. F. D. Shumate, S. Cole-st.

Vane J. Sullivan, W. Wayne-st, is home from Marion where he visited with friends.

Mrs. Emma L. Blaire has returned from Cleveland where she was called on account of the death of her niece, Miss Mabel Foote.

As an informal courtesy to Miss Corinne Croy who will leave Saturday for Washington, D. C., Miss Bernice Lindsmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Lindsmith, delightfully entertained the members of the J. C. club with a theatre party Thursday afternoon, after which dairy refreshments were served at Louder's Tea rooms.

North Division of Zion Lutheran church will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. G. F. Scheuler, 968 Rice-ave.

Lionel Thorberry of the L. E. and W. is spending a few weeks in New York City in the interest of the company.

Friends of Miss Florence Kline and Otto Moorman will be pleased to learn of their marriage which took place December 30, 1920. Mr. and Mrs. Moorman are receiving their friends at 425 E. McKeithen-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Autrin welcomed the members of the Willing Workers class of the South Side Baptist church to their home on Nine-st Tuesday. Thirty members and several guests were present including Mrs. H. Summers, Mrs. Perry Dixon, Miss Beatrice Jacobs, Ray and Arthur Bedford and Mrs. H. Arthur. Following the business session a program of music and contests was indulged in.

The next meeting will be held the last Tuesday in March with Mrs. Scott Bedwell, 904 E. High-st.

Mrs. Winemiller's class of the First Baptist church which is now known as the Aurora class will meet Thursday with Mrs. Mary Parker, Prospective.

Mrs. C. S. Jones, W. Market-st was hostess to the members of the Alteretta club Tuesday. Encore was enjoyed with Mrs. Nanda Dennis, Mrs. F. H. Foulk and Mrs. F. A. Kershaw holding high scores. Following the playing dainty refreshments were served by the hostess with Mrs. John Alligre.

Mrs. R. T. Bennett was hostess to the members of the Woman's board of the Tuberculosis hospital at her home on Hazelwood Tuesday. Following a business meeting dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. In honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Fife, one of the members, a very pretty Washington birthday gift was presented her.

The next meeting will be held March 8 with Mrs. Edmiston.

The Art Exhibit which is being held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms this week under the auspices of the Art Study club will not be opened to the public Wednesday evening, because of several meetings which will be held in the rooms at that time. The regular schedule from 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. will be followed throughout the remainder of the week.

During the exhibition Thursday evening Mr. Sawitsky, art representative from New York City will speak. Mr. Sawitsky is very interesting and entertaining as was proven by his lecture Monday evening.

Miss Elizabeth Brennan and Miss Rose Dimond have returned to this city after visiting in Columbus for several days.

The rooms were artistically decorated throughout with the national colors and other decorations in keeping with the day. Following the playing a dainty tea was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Donald Sullivan and Mrs. Warren Meier.

For the pleasure of Miss Katherine Gramm, bride-elect of Ralph Shridler, Mrs. Beecher Moke entertained at a prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon at her home on W. Spring-st. Wednesday. Fragrant vases of spring flowers added a note of color to the rooms and marking each cover was an artistic hand painted place card.

Guests were Miss Marjorie Wartfield, Miss Mary Shridler, Miss Geraldine Kal Thomas, Miss Dorothy Collins and the honored guest.

Mrs. T. J. Hoffman, W. Wayne-ave, was hostess to the members of the Tuesday afternoon Bridge club, Tuesday. Bridge was enjoyed throughout the afternoon. Mrs. L. L. Morris had a high score. Mrs. T. A. Welsh assisted the hostess in serving tea at 5 o'clock. Guests were Mrs. Charles Dearlott and Mrs. Clarence Miller.

The club will meet in a fortnight with Mrs. L. L. Morris.

Discoveries

To Stretch Curtains—Fold the lace curtain double, lengthwise; then pin it on tightly stretched clothes line with pins close together. Slip a clean pole inside the folded curtain. When dry and taken off the line it will look much neater than when put on the stretcher.

Darning Hose—it is much easier to use a small embroidery hoop instead of a stocking darning.

Cleaning Enamelware—Sanded hand soap is excellent for cleaning enamelware. It is not nearly so harmful to the hands as scouring powder and is inexpensive.

Tested Recipes

Farina With Dates—One quart boiling water, two-third cup farina, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup ground dates.

When water boils add salt, then farina. Cook ten minutes, then add dates, stirring them thoroly in the wheat. Cook five minutes, then serve.

Pastries for Pies—Makes eighteen or twenty individual pies. Ten ounces flour, three ounces butter, three ounces lard, pinch salt.

Sift flour onto baking board. Roll out butter in flour. Roll out lard in flour. Lay aside.

Add pinch of salt to remaining flour. Add enough water to make smooth into dough. Work dough ten minutes in your hand to make smooth and elastic.

Roll out this dough. Lay butter previously rolled on half of dough. Fold other half of dough over it. Then roll out. (Always do butter first.) Next roll in lard the same way. Roll pastry out for third time.

Line individual pie tins with pastry cut to fit. Put in good teaspoon of mince meat. Put cover on and trim edges with knife.

Mince Pies—Mince Meat—One and one-half pounds apples, one pound suet, one pound chopped meat, one pound currants, one pound raisins, one pound sugar, one-quarter pound candied lemon peel, one nutmeg, grated, two teaspoons cinnamon.

Put all thru food chopper. Put in a pie shell.

This makes more than enough to fill two quart jars.

Coffee Cake—One cup flour, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon shortening (melted), one-half cup milk. Stir dry ingredients together, stir in shortening and milk. Sprinkle with sugar, made of two tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons cinnamon, one-half tablespoon butter and bake over hot oven.

This is inexpensive, very easy to make and takes the place of cake and a heavy dish for breakfast.

THE PARADISE MYSTERY

By J. S. FLINTONER

In accordance with his undesignable and scheming for contriving and scheme-ry, Bryce had made due and careful preparations for his visit to the tomb of Richard Jenkins. Even in the momentary confusion following the discovery of Collishaw's body he had been sufficiently sensible to his own immediate purposes to notice that the tomb—a very ancient and dilapidated structure—was in the midst of a small expanse of stone pavement between the two trees and the wall of the nave;
he had noticed also that the pavement consisted of small squares of stone, some of which bore initials and names. A sharp glance at the pavement whereabouts of the particular spot which he wanted, as included in the scrap of paper taken from Braden's purse, showed him that he would have to raise one or two of these small squares, possibly two or three of them. And so he had furthered himself with a short crowbar of tempered steel, specially purchased at the ironmonger's, and with a small bull's-eye lantern. Had he been arrested and searched as he had his way toward the cathedral, he might reasonably have expected of a design to break into the treasury and appropriate the various ornaments for which the cathedral was famous. But Bryce had neither arrest nor observation. During his residence in Wry-ingate he had done a good deal of gossip about the old city at night, and knew that Paradise, at any rate after dark, was a deserted place.
He might cross from the close away to the wicket gate by the outer path, but no one would perceive him. And so he had easily slipped into the cathedral in early summer, the screen of trees and bushes was so thick in that one within it, foliage on the side, the great walls on the nave on the other, there was little like-hood of any person overlooking his comings and goings while he made his investigations. He anticipated a swift and sure job, to be done in a few minutes.

But there was another individual a Wryngate who knew just as much about the geography of Paradise as Pemberton Bryce knew. Dick Bewery of Betty Campany had of late progressed out of the schoolboy and schoolgirl half-troll-well-met stage of the first dawns of love, and in the days of their frequent meetings had begun a romantic correspondence between each other, the joy and mystery of which was increased a hundredfold by a secret method of exchanging these missives. Just inside the gate entrance of Paradise there was an old monument which was a convenient cavity.
Dick Bewery's ready wits transformed this into love's postoffice. In it he regularly placed letters for Betty, and when Betty stuffed it into letters to him. And on this particular evening Dick had gone to Paradise to collect a possible mail; and as he walked leisurely into the narrow path enclosed by trees and old stone which led from Friary gate to the ancient enclosure, Dick had a corner and ran full into him. In the light of the single lamp which illuminated the path, the two recovered themselves and looked at each other.

"Hello," said Bryce. "What's so hurry, young Bewery?"
He was panting for breath, from excitement than haste. Up he had looked at Bryce. Up he knew nothing much about Bryce, whom he had rather been in the fashion in which boys regards like their seniors, and he was induced to confide in him.
"Hello," he replied. "I say!
Are you off to?"
"Took!"—striding round, said Bryce. "No particular place, why?"
"You weren't going in—there?"
And Dick jerking a thumb toward the gate.

"In there!" exclaimed Bryce.
"Lord, no—dreadfully enough intimate! What should I be going there for?"
Dick seized Bryce's coat-sleeve and waggled him aside.
"I say!" he whispered. "There's a young girl up in there—a search of the gate!"

He started in spite of an effort to keep unconcerned. "I search? In there?" he said.
"What do you mean?"
He pointed amongst the trees, and Bryce saw the faint glimmer of light in the bushes.

"I was in there—just now," said Bryce. "And some men—three or four—came along. They're in there, up by the nave, just where I found that chap Collishaw."

CENTRAL HI IS REGARDED AS "DARK HORSE" IN TITLE MEET

FISTIC CHAMPIONS LOOK SUPREMELY SAFE—MRS. MARSHALL FIELD'S SHOW IS BIG FINANCIAL SUCCESS—TRI-CITY MITT TOURNAMENT

ONLY ONE CHAMPION IS UNCOVERED BY TEX RICKARD

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK. All winter Tex Rickard has been running elimination events to find a new fistic champion for every class.

In a little more than a month the season will close and only one champion has been uncovered.

The other title holders of the fistic family look to be supremely safe for another season at least.

Jack Dempsey, Benny Leonard and Jack Britton are in a class without equal.

Johnny Wilson and Johnny Kilbane are being rated as sure losers the first time they meet a good contender. But where are the good contenders?

Joe Lynch also is one of these champions at whom the old-timers look with a sigh and wish for the past. But Joey is out of danger also.

The first elimination contests brought out Joe Lynch as the best contender in the bantamweight championship class and he went out and took the championship from Pete Herman.

"CONTENDERS" SAY LOT

But the "contenders" in the other classes are a sad lot.

Benny Leonard was the target of a tirade from Lew Tender, Willie Jackson and others, until he proved he could make 125 pounds. Then the contenders wanted $50,000 to be given on a chance at the title.

Until very recently Johnny Wilson was condemned for being a non-fighter. Recently, however, he has been begging Mike O'Gorman for a bout and the former champion has been strangely silent.

LAUGHS AT THE BEST

Billy Dofos and Sammy Seeger are said to be the best of the featherweight contenders. No wonder Kilbane laughs when tears are shed about his future.

Jack Britton can feel the same way when the eliminations put the stamp of "best contender" on Jack Perry, Lou Bogash, Soldier Bartfield and the like.

HOPES LEGAL MIX WILL BE O.K'D

NEW YORK—Hope that legal obstacles will be removed this week and that Tex Rickard would acquire sole rights to the Dempsey-Carpenter fight, was expressed here today by Jack Kearns, manager of the champion.

"We are still waiting for William A. Brady to return from a western trip," Kearns said. "He is due back this week. We'll get together then and find out what's what about this thing."

Tex Rickard also said that he was marking time, awaiting the return of Brady or the arrival of a letter from Charles B. Cogan in London, which might give him a title to the London promoter on the transfer of interests.

MIAMI DEFEATS WESLEYAN

DELAWARE—Miami defeated the Wesleyan basketball quintet here last night 22 to 17. Wesleyan led throughout the game until the last of the second half when Miami caged a free throw and two field baskets in succession.

LYNCH IS EASY MITT VICTOR

PHILADELPHIA—Joe Lynch, bantam champion, was an easy victor over Jabez White in a slogging eight-round bout here last night. Lynch used a left jab and a right cross most effectively.

MRS. FIELD IS SUCCESSFUL PROMOTER

CHICAGO—Meet Mrs. Marshall Field, III, new wrestling promoter. She successfully staged three bouts here last night which netted $15,000 for crippled and orphan children of Chicago.

Hundreds of society debutantes were among the 12,000 persons who saw the matches.

Jack Reynolds, of Cedar Rapids, welterweight champion, pinned Syros Verres, of Chicago. Johnny Myers of Chicago, middleweight title holder, was awarded the decision over Lou Talbier of Chicago. Jim Londo, former Greek light-heavy weight champion, and John Fisher, grappled one hour and 13 minutes to a draw.

LEONARD HAS MATCH WITH WELLING

ST. LOUIS—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, and Joe Welling of Chicago, will meet here Friday night in an 8-round, no-decision bout. The men will enter the ring at catchweights. Both have been training here for several days.

The clash will be the second between the two, the pair having met in New York, Nov. 26, in a school's 15-round contest. Leonard won on a technical knockout, as the referee stopped the bout in the fourteenth round to save Welling further punishment.

The champion carried the fight through the contest, according to reports, and floored Welling three times in the thirteenth round, and once in the fourteenth.

Friday's bout is arousing considerable enthusiasm here, however, as Welling is considered one of the leading contenders for the divisional crown.

3 CITIES TO SEND PUGS TO N. Y.

NEW YORK—Amateur boxers in eight classes, from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Boston will compete here tonight in Madison Square Garden with the best men the local clubs can produce.

Philadelphia, not having a first class man in the heavyweight division, has obtained permission to enter J. Murphy of Cleveland, Ohio, who stands six feet, two inches and weighs 220 pounds. A great deal of interest is centered in the 125 pound class, in which Jack Zivic, of Pittsburgh and Archie Walker, the New York state lightweight champion, are expected to meet.

The inter-city carnival, which is being conducted by the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, will be concluded tomorrow night.

SHORT SHAVINGS

"Listen!" commanded the arch-conspirator. "There is one point of the utmost importance in carrying out our plan. We must make some place where there is not the slightest danger of interference."

"Yes," hissed the gang.

"We gotta be sure there's no chance of the cops getting a line on the 'murder,'" continued the chief plotter.

"Yes," hissed the gang.

"I've got it!" snapped the leader.

"The very place. A nice, safe spot we can reach in a few seconds, where we can murder this guy and not get a peep outta a soul."

"Where?" demanded the gang.

"Broadway" and "Forty-second street," was the answer.

A temperance lecturer displayed to his audience two geraniums. The first had been watered in the usual way. The second had been dosed with alcohol and its foliage was shriveled and sparse, its stem twisted and its vitality decayed.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen," cried the lecturer, "what can you say to a demonstration like that?"

"It's all right, and if I were a geranium," said a shabby man at the back of the hall. "I'd stick to water, but, you see, I'm not a geranium."

"Wud yer luk at that!" exclaimed Mrs. Brady, with indignation, in passing a neighbor's house and reading the sign, "Washing and Ironing Done."

"Shure, she ain't wan bit better than Ol' am. I've got me washin' and ironin' done, too, but, just see me hangin' out no signs braggin' about it."
